

God Has Spoken-- A Laymen Soldier has fallen.

A soldier is assigned, trained, and equipped to serve and fulfill the duties of the mission. The ultimate goal is to complete the assignment. When a soldier falls, it does not signal an end to the assignment, rather it is an extension, especially if the work has been noble, kind and good. Such is the case with Layman Soldier Joyce Carol Lee Pink.

Because of her endless desire to serve and the boundless options she employed to pique, engage and enrich our lives and our learning, Joyce will forever live! She taught us to research, question and query why things are the way they are. She introduced us to archival portals in order that we could unlock the history of our Zion. She showed us, in her quiet, unassuming way, the urgency of being present.

Joyce has completed her earthly assignment. She has laid down her war clothes and though the faint sound of Taps can be heard in the background, we know that Reveille is being played loudly on the horizon of her New Life.
